Description:	Hygromycin B is an aminoglycoside antibiotic which targets both prokaryotic and eukaryotic cells. TOKU-E offers five forms of hygromycin B: hygromycin B (H007), hygromycin B, EvoPure® (H010), hygromycin B solution (H011), hygromycin B, EvoPure® solution (H015), and hygromycin B, concentrated solution (H001) Hygromycin B (H007) and hygromycin B, EvoPure® (H010) are both freely soluble in aqueous solution. Hygromycin B solution (H011) is prepared at 50 mg/mL in PBS buffer. Hygromycin B, EvoPure® solution (H015) is prepared at 100 mg/mL. Hygromycin B, concentrated solution (H001) is prepared at 450,000 U/mL. EvoPure® products are purified single antibiotic fractions, most &gt;99% pure.
Mechanism:	Toxicity of hygromycin B is thought to arise from inhibiting protein synthesis by strengthening the interaction of peptidyl-tRNA in the ribosomal acceptor ("A") site preventing translocation by EF-2 (elongation factor 2).
Plant Biology Applications	The toxicity of Hygromycin B and the availability of a selection marker (npt II) makes this antibiotic applicable as gene selection agent. This transformation system was successfully used by Dai and co-workers in rice (2001).
Technical Data:	HPLC, NMR, FTIR, and MS analysis may be available. For more info, please email
